

and Chipfield joined today in denying that there had been a threat to resign by Attorney Whipple.

"Not a word was said in the executive session of the committee about Mr. Whipple resigning," said Congressman Foster. "The New York story has no foundation whatever."

Similar statements were made by other members, and Mr. Chipfield added:

"My relations with attorney Whipple are most cordial. I simply entered an objection to a certain line of examination the attorney was pursuing. No lawyer takes exception to an objection. Mr. Whipple and I discussed the matter afterward and there is no feeling whatever between us. The resignation story is an invention pure and simple."

Henry and Whipple Remain.

Chairman Henry and Sherman L. Whipple, the latter attorney for the committee, remained in New York to be in touch with the governing board of the stock exchange. Other members returned to Washington last night or will arrive today. It has not been decided when the hearings will be resumed. The members of the stock exchange, who kicked at the first suggestion that they produce all their records, say it will take several days, and possibly two weeks, to get records in the committee the information it desires.

Meanwhile the hearings cannot well continue here because of the absence of Attorney Whipple and Chairman Henry. It is possible, however, that after a survey of the situation in New York hearings may be resumed here and the committee return to New York two weeks hence. Under the resolution adopted, the committee is directed to report to the House within thirty days from last Friday.

Secretary Lansing, Paul Warburg, and Secretary McAdoo, whose names were mentioned in the Lawson testimony, are also available here, and it is believed that some of the committee members who wish to expedite the hearings will move that they be resumed in Washington while the investigators await the compilation of data about the New York stock exchange.

TO DEMAND GUARANTEES

U. S. Will Insist on Mexico Safe-guarding Foreigners.

The safety of the foreigners in the districts of northern Mexico occupied for the last ten months by United States forces under General Pershing, will be demanded by this Government of Carranza, when the American troops are finally withdrawn.

An urgent appeal will, in all probability, be dispatched to the Mexican leader by this Government in the next day or two.

Pear is particularly felt for the many Chinese who have been purveyors of supplies to the Americans if these friends of the soldiers care to cross the border into the United States, the State Department says that no objections will be made, and in spite of the act excluding them they will have the right of asylum in American territory.

INDIANS AT WHITE HOUSE

Ask To Be Shown Through Executive Mansion.

Eleven Indians, each of them from fifty to seventy-five pounds heavier than the average "pale face," and two or three inches taller than the average Caucasian, came to the White House today, and asked to be shown through the Executive Mansion.

The request was rather unusual, as most Indians specifically state that they want to grasp the hand of the President. The Red Men are Arapahos, from Canon and Geny, Okla., reservations.

ALUMNI PLANS CENTENNIAL

Howard University Graduates Hold "Get-Together."

To arouse enthusiasm in the coming semi-centennial of Howard University, several hundred Washington alumni of the school met in the first of a series of "get-together" meetings at Rankin Hall last night.

Dr. S. M. Neuman, president of the university, welcomed those present and urged them to work for the best interests of the university. Shelby J. Davidson, president of the general alumni association, spoke on the necessity of teamwork if the school was to be provided with a symposium. A musical and vocal program was given.

NATION MAY GET "TWO-BIT" MENUS

Mrs. Eula McClary Appeals to President and Mrs. Wilson to Take Leading Step.

BETTER FOOD IS URGED

Life Extension Institute Fosters Purchasing for Greater Substantance.

"It may work, but I'd like to see any fellow living at a restaurant live on two bits a day," said a young man to Mrs. Eula McClary, who called upon the President Tuesday in the interests of the 25 cents per day eating plan. "I can't do it on a dollar a day."

"Get married then, live on 50 cents a day for the two of you, and save half a dollar," was the reply of Mrs. McClary, who is a firm believer that everybody can live on a quarter a day and get fat.

Would Send Out Menus.

Mrs. McClary said that should the President decide to set aside a "National Buying Day," the Life Extension Institute, of which she is the representative, would prepare, and send to every paper in the nation, sample menus which are to aid the housewives of the country in their attempt to stay within the 25-cent limit. The Department of Agriculture will be asked to help encourage the people of the nation, not only to buy cheaper food and eliminate the extravagance, but to buy better and more nourishing foods.

"We are all trying to make the people save," said Mrs. McClary, "although that will be one of the results of our plan. The trouble is that some of these wealthy people spend about ten times more than they should and then don't get half as good food as some poor working man who lives on about 50 cents a day."

Will Return To Washington.

Certain that Mrs. Wilson will fall in line with the President's intention of introducing the diet in the White House for three meals, at a total cost of 25 cents, Mrs. McClary will return to Washington tonight with a special set of menus worked out. The diet will be chosen from those used in the police test, but it will be composed of foods adapted for less active and hard working individuals than policemen. Mrs. McClary also will present the President's kitchen with a pound can of the imitation butter that has been used with such success by the diet squad.

The "Calory Kitchen Experiment," as Mrs. McClary's much abused plan is called, is being used to prove that the old saying "More work—more meat" is a fallacy. Those interested in the movement believe that while it is true that a man engaged in hard outdoor work can burn up greater quantities of meat or protein food than a sedentary worker, the risk of damage from ashes is still there, and that the fuel is inordinately expensive from a financial as well as a physiological standpoint.

Limit For Meats.

The housewife, for these reasons, is to be taught to keep meats and foods of like nature down to the proper limit. Such foods as peas, beans, lentils, eggs, cheese, and nuts are much cheaper and contain more protein than can be derived from other sources.

The advice given by Mrs. McClary is: "Eat fruit every day. Canned fruits are good. Cooked fruit is often better than dubious fresh fruit, to stimulate the bowels and give flavor to the diet and prevent over-indulgence. Eat slowly and taste your food well, and it will slide down at the proper time. Do not nibble your food timorously; eat it boldly and confidently. A glass or two of water at meals is not harmful if you do not wash your food down with it. But, above all, do not let anyone bring a grouse to the dinner table; it will upset all the food values."

Be Happy At Table.

"Above all don't bring a grouse to the dinner table." Maybe Mrs. McClary is afraid the grouse will drive away some of those elusive little calories. They are hard enough to get for two bits per day, so "do your best," says Mrs. McClary, "to entertain them with a smile while you are devouring them."

Some of the Washingtonians who are on the board of the institute which is behind the work undertaken by Mrs. McClary, are:

Dyspeptics Should Avoid Drugs And Medicines

Try a Little Magnesia Instead.

Some people instinctively shut their eyes to danger, and it may be that instinct, or custom or habit causes dyspeptics to take drugs, patent foods and medicines, artificial digestants, etc.

But closing the eyes does not banish the danger, and it is certain that neither drugs nor medicines possess the power to destroy the harmful excessive acid in the stomach, which is the underlying cause of most forms of indigestion and dyspepsia. They may give temporary relief, but ever increasing quantities must be taken, and all the time the acid remains in the stomach as dangerous as ever.

TO BEGIN WORK ON INAUGURAL STANDS

Contract Let for Those on Avenue From Fifteenth to Seventeenth Sts.

Work on the grand stands along Pennsylvania avenue, from Fifteenth to Seventeenth streets, is to be begun immediately.

Following a meeting of the advisory board of the inaugural committee this afternoon, a contract for this work was let to W. P. Lipscomb & Co., Washington builders, who constructed the stands four years ago. No bids were asked for, as it was realized that the limited time between now and March 5 would make this impossible. The Lipscomb company will do the work on a percentage basis.

The stands will be practically the same as those of the past. The difference will be in the exterior appearance, as the decorations will be entirely new and original. The same blueprints used in the past will be pressed into service this time, and much time and money will be saved as a result.

Plan To Prolong Parade.

Whether the plans of the illuminating committee to erect a series of little "courts of honor" from the Capitol to Fifteenth street, will be approved has not yet been decided. The advisory committee took up this matter this afternoon, but will defer action until a later date.

Fireworks Contract Awarded.

To a Jersey City firm will go the contract for furnishing the fireworks to be used on the night of March 5. Chairman Harry King, of the fireworks committee, and his associates, after conferring with more than a dozen representatives of manufacturers, today announced that the contract will be awarded to John Serpico, head of the International Fireworks Company of New Jersey.

The program calls for one of the most magnificent effects ever invented, a majority of the pieces of which are original and have not been displayed before. The simultaneous explosion of 750 exploding cylinders, having a total of 1,750 breakers, will be one of the features which never before has been shown in public.

Wilson Peace Display.

The program calls for a "battle sound" which will open with the national salute of aero bombs, which will be followed by the explosion of twenty-one 18-inch inaugural bombs. A series of special combination shells will follow, and a Wilson peace display of eighteen 15-inch shells which evolve into stars and the United States colors.

At a special meeting last night, the committee made tentative plans for erecting enough seats for 25,000 persons on the Monument grounds. The seats are to be of a movable variety and will be low enough to permit the general audience to witness perfectly every event.

A Leftwich Sinclair, of the public comfort committee, again is urging those Washingtonians having rooms for rent, to list them with his committee, as demands are coming in from every section of the country for inauguration reservations.
